Three Irrigation Projects Sought In Congress Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three irrigation projects in Colorado and Wyoming would be authorized under bills before Congress.

Individual authorization bills were introduced last month for the Fruitland Mesa, Bustwick Park and Saverly-Pot Hook projects. Bills offered Monday in the Senate and House would authorize the three in a single law.

Sens. Gordon Allott and Peter H. Dominick, Colorado Republicans, joined as cosponsors of the bill in the Senate.

Noting that individual project bills had been offered, Allott said "it appears to us that the similarity in project characteristics recommends that they be considered together."

Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee which handles project legislation, introduced the House version of the single authorization bill for the three projects.

The three would be participating units of the Upper Colorado River Storage projects.

Fruitland Mesa, estimated to cost $11,551,000, would irrigate Colorado lands along Sapinero, Curecanti, Crystal and Iron Creeks.

Bustwick Park, costing an estimated $2,634,000, would irrigate lands in Colorado along the west side of Cimarron Creek, east of Montrose.

The $10,814,000 Saverly-Pot Hook project would provide water from streams in the Little Snake River valley for lands in northwestern Colorado and south central Wyoming.

Navy May Keep Rickover After Retirement Age

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten years ago, the Navy was on the verge of ousting Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover. Now it's thinking of keeping him on after retirement age.

Rickover, acclaimed as the father of the nuclear-powered submarine, will reach that age, 64, next January.

The Defense Department disclosed Monday that Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth has the question of Rickover's future "under active consideration."

No decision has been made, it added, because the admiral's retirement date is still almost a year off.

Annapolis graduate Rickover almost got the boot for rocking the boat. By the time he had reached captain he had stepped on enough Navy toes that his promotion to admiral was twice passed over, which would have meant retirement. Congressional pressure saved his career. Rickover got his star and the Navy got its first nuclear sub.

Rickover, in charge of the Navy's reactor program, had a half hour chat with President Kennedy Monday about the Polaris program.

To keep Rickover in uniform, the Navy under present regulations could retire him and then bring him back to active duty.

It appeared to be better than an outside chance that the Navy would steer this course rather than risk another collision with Rickover's congressional backers.

Europe's Winter Continues Its Toll

LONDON (UPI)—One of Europe's worst winters continued to take its toll today on human lives, property and livestock.

Norwegian authorities huddled with Lapland herders to decide whether about 600 starving reindeer should be slaughtered.

The herd crossed into the icy northern Norwegian mountains from Sweden during recent snowstorms. Feeding attempts have failed.

Landslides caused by melting snows and heavy rains threatened widespread damage. Since

Dec. 23, about 1,600 deaths have been attributed to the weather. Damage to crops and roads is estimated at many millions of dollars.

Soviet Doctors Claim 'Nerve' Artificial Limbs

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Soviet doctors have successfully developed artificial limbs which can be operated by nerve impulses from the handicapped person's muscles, the newspaper Dagens Nyheter said today.

In an interview with three Swedish doctors now on a study mission to Leningrad and Moscow, Dagens Nyheter Moscow correspondent Lars Bringert also said the Russians have replaced damaged bones with those from dead persons.

Bringert quoted the Swedes as saying only a few minor problems remained before the Russians could start large scale production of the artificial limbs. They are operated by an electronic transformer which picks up the impulses from the muscles when they are functioning, he said.

The only specific limb mentioned was an artificial hand, but it was indicated other limbs had been made to operate on the same principle.

Marine Corporal Says He Marched 100 Miles

NAHA, Okinawa (AP)—A Marine lance corporal claims he marched 100 miles in less than 17 hours—and did it, ironically, the day before President Kennedy turned 50-mile hikes into a national fad.

A 3rd Marine Division newspaper said that Darold R. Dent, about 23, of Burwell, Neb., tramped the 100 miles in 16 hours, 42 minutes, 48 seconds Feb. 4 in wind, rain and sleet.

On Feb. 5 the President said he had uncovered a 1908 Theodore Roosevelt directive ordering Marine officers to march 50 miles in 20 hours.

Marchers all over the United States have since taken to the pavements, hills and brush with 16-17 hours an average time for finishers of the 50-mile trek. No one has yet reported a time under 10 hours—except for Dent, who claims it twice, back-to-back. The Marine paper said Dent walked alone but was accompanied at various times by spectators and well-wishers. He stopped at 50 miles for a medical check-up and fresh footwear, and halted at 75 miles for a two-minute rub-down of his cramped leg muscles. The entire island of Okinawa is only 60 miles long and 9 miles wide.

Navy doctor Lt. Clyde W. Jones said afterward that Dent was bothered only by sore muscles and "hadn't even a blister."

Trading Stamp Issue Clears Minor Hurdle

DENVER (UPI) — Proposed legislation to give consumers the choice of accepting trading stamps or taking a cash discount on their purchases cleared a minor hurdle in the Colorado Legislature here.

The House Business Affairs Committee ordered the bill, by Rep. Harold McCormick, R-Canon City, printed.

The cash discount would be an amount equal to the value of the stamps.

Widow of Skindiver Reported Found Dead

LONDON (UPI) — The young widow of skindiver Peter Small, who died in a diving accident off the southern California coast last December, was found dead in her gas-filled apartment today.

Police said there was no suspicion of foul play and suicide was a possibility in the death of Mrs. Mary Small, 23. She was with her 35-year-old husband in America when the diver, a journalist by profession, died after reaching a record 1,000 feet in a diving bell.

A friend of the couple, Bernard Eaton, said when Mrs. Small returned home "she was inconsolable but she seemed to be improving."

BUSY TRAFFIC COURTS CHICAGO (UPI) — A total of 17,381,219 moving traffic violations were filed in the nation's courts in 1961 and 8,915,423 of these were disposed of in the court room, reports the American Bar Association's Traffic Court Program.

Rocky Pledges To Try Ending Big News Strike

Tuesday night to newsmen. He gave no clue to what action he might take.

Rockett, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Mayor Robert F. Wagner appointed an unofficial fact-finding panel of judges when the newspaper strike was a month old.

The panel filed a report which accused the printers of shutting down the papers and sitting back to await their surrender to union demands in the face of threatened extinction.

The newspaper blackout started Dec. 8 when 3,000 members of Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union struck against the Times, Daily News, Journal-American and World, Telegram & Sun, The Herald Tribune, Mirror, Post, Long Island Press and Long Island Star-Journal shut down voluntarily, though the Long Island Press continues to publish editions for distribution on Long Island outside New York City.

The publishers said in a statement Monday night they had reached the conclusion "that a settlement through the normal process of collective bargaining with the printers would be extremely difficult if not impossible." The publishers said "a long test of economic strength appears inevitable."

The two sides are deadlocked on the issues of wages, hours, fringe benefits, type reproduction and automation.

The shutdown threw about 17,000 other newspaper people out of work.

In Cleveland, Ohio, 3,000 newspaper people have been idled in the 76-day-old strike by five unions that has shut down the city's two newspapers, the Plain Dealer and the Press and News.

In New York scheduling of further negotiations appeared to hinge on reports expected by Wagner from the printers and the newspapers, which are represented by the Publishers Association of New York City.

Council Considers Revisions to City Prevention Code

New suggestions for revision of the Colorado Springs Fire Prevention Code were considered Tuesday by the City Council, at the request of H. R. Grueskin representing the Dividend Bonded Gas Company.

Council denied Grueskin's first request on Jan. 8. The revisions concern delivery of gasoline to service stations by larger truck transports within the city limits.

Council voted to adopt the revisions as an ordinance at the first meeting in March.

In other action council granted the request of the Southgate Church of the Nazarene, 1615 Cheyenne Rd., for additional water services.

Charles Pearson Dies in Denver

The oldest living member of two Colorado Springs lodges died recently in Denver at the age of 91.

Holder of the No. 1 membership, as the oldest member, in of El Paso Lodge No. 13, AFAM, and the BPO Elks Lodge No. 309 was Charles Pearson.

Lodge officials were recently notified of his death, which occurred in a nursing home in Denver on Jan. 17. He had made his home in Denver in recent years, and previously lived in Wheatland, Wyo., for a time after leaving Colorado Springs.

Mr. Pearson was born Sept. 18, 1871, in Henry County, Illinois. He came to Colorado Springs as a young man and for many years was office manager of the St. John Plumbing Co., no longer in existence.

He joined El Paso Lodge No. 13 on Feb. 1, 1893. In 1946 he was presented with the Masonic 50-receiving members. During a short business meeting conducted by Grand Master Grover C. Olinger of Denver, according to Byron Thady, secretary of the lodge.

Police Hold Man After Gun Fires

City police are holding a Ft. Carson soldier, following an accidental shooting at a local supermarket.

Hugh Randolph Hobbs, 24, was carrying the .32 calibre revolver in a paper sack when the gun discharged sending a slug ricocheting off a plate glass window into an advertising machine. The window was cracked by the bullet which was found on the floor near the machine.

Police said Hobbs was with a companion at the time the gun went off. No further details were released.

He joined El Paso Lodge No. 13 on Feb. 1, 1893. In 1946 he was presented with the Masonic 50-receiving members. During a short business meeting conducted by Grand Master Grover C. Olinger of Denver, according to Byron Thady, secretary of the lodge.

43 Die as Jet Airliner Crashes in Everglades

The wreckage was 14 miles south of the operations base, across a swamp choked with thick undergrowth that only swamp bugs and weasel vehicles could penetrate.

The flight recorder box, a compact set of instruments that might provide a clue to the crash, was taken from the wreckage and flown by Coast Guard helicopter to the operations base.

The recorder, a steel cylinder designed to withstand extreme pressure and heat, records on metallic tape an aircraft's direction, air speed, altitude and acceleration.

This morning as investigators looked for other pieces of the plane and passenger belongings, a cold north wind whispered across the damp, isolated swampland.

A team from the U.S. Fish and Game Commission reached the wreckage about midnight and radioed that it found the plane burning.

Miami FBI Agent Wesley Grapp conferred at the operations base with the CAB team. Grapp said his office usually cooperates with aviation officials in investigating such disasters.

The craft lost radio contact with Miami International Airport traffic control seven minutes after it took off in a rain squall at 1:35 p.m. Six and one-half hours elapsed before the firewreck was sighted, 43 miles southwest of Miami, in a search that covered the southeast.

Coast Guardsmen spotted the Boeing 720B from a helicopter. "It lay smack in the middle of a swamp. The fuselage was all busted up and consumed by fire," the copter crew said.

It was not determined what knocked the plane out of the sky only minutes after it flew into squally weather that lashed Florida throughout the day. Glades fishermen said they saw a fire ball in the sky.

Civil Aeronautics Board investigators and military personnel headed into the swampy wilderness by helicopter and a caravan of tractor-like vehicles. The area was closed to all but official groups. The crash scene is nine miles from the nearest road.

The field team of investigators included CAB men, headed by Charles Collar of Miami; five FBI agents, and medical personnel flown to south Florida from the Armed Forces Pathology Institute to examine and identify bodies.

Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. James Dillon and W. C. Wallace, who spied the wreck near darkness, landed gingerly on boggy ground and explored the scene.

"All around us were little pieces of wreckage and a lot of luggage," Dillon said. "Wallace said it looked as if all the bodies were intact. All he had was a flashlight and he couldn't see too much."

Planes of the Air Force, Coast Guard and Civil Air Patrol began the hunt half an hour after the ground radio contact with the jetliner suddenly broke off at 1:42 p.m. that was only seven minutes after airline Capt. Roy W. Alquist of Rosemount, Minn., lifted his craft from Miami International Airport.

The search was intensified in the Everglades west of Miami when sport fishermen scattered through the area began reporting they saw fire in the sky.

One of the first reports came from Gordon Swann of Naples, who was fishing in Everglades National Park.

"Suddenly there was a ball of fire within a cloud, and a rain of fire descended all the way to the rim of mangrove trees on our horizon," Swann said. He got word to a park ranger who relayed it to Coast Guard search headquarters.

Man Leaves Without Paying Garage Bill

A C. Rupp of the Rodeo Court, 3024 N. Nevada Ave. reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday that a man had left without paying a $15.66 garage bill which he had run up at Rupp's garage, Rodeo Court Texaco, and that he had given Rupp a no account check for back rent.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Snuggs said the man went to the gas station saying he had run out of gas and that he had left his car in another part of town. The station attendant drove him to the spot and shortly after the man appeared at the filling station and got more gas. He left to pay a bill at the motel and then drove off without paying for the gas.

Upon investigation it was found the bank had no account in his name and Rupp told Snuggs that he intends to press a no account check charge.

The place of first contact was only an act of radio contact. F.A.A. men said there was nothing in the ground-to-air communication to indicate trouble. The pilot had just asked for clearance to climb and a radio call.

Discovery of the broken wreck in the Everglades confirmed the worst fears of passengers' friends and relatives who had waited at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport for the plane—first 15 minutes late in takeoff, then listed as unreported, then as overdue.

normal, in Cincinnati (thousands out), in St. Louis (about 10 per cent of the school population) and in Norwich, Conn. (nearly 50 per cent).

In Bridgeport, Conn., schools were closed Monday to give teachers suffering from "flu-like" symptoms time to recuperate.

In Western Maryland, schools had great difficulty finding enough substitute teachers for those who were ill.

The Sharon Springs Central School in Schoharie County, N.Y., closed its doors for the week after 135 of the 425 students and eight faculty members developed a flu-like ailment.

A veterans hospital in Minneapolis and the Eastern, Md., Memorial Hospital curtailed visiting hours because of virus outbreaks similar to flu. The Eastern hospital said its medical and surgical beds were filled to capacity and it was forced to use obstetric beds which normally are not used for contagious cases.

bill and make our decision after the study. This all takes time. We just don't know about a suit at this time. We won't lit it go Vermijo, guilty of making an illegal left turn, $10 fine which was suspended on there being no further violation of a moving nature in one year's time, and Edward Joyce, 16, 1401 Avenue A, guilty of careless driving and speeding, with $50 fines on each. Judge Asher told the youth $75 of the total fines would be suspended if Joyce would surrender his driver's license for 90 days.

Earlier, Gilbert and Gallagher pointed out that in the redistricting, the Republican legislature drew the lines within the county so that each of the three state representatives was placed in his own district.

Bennett pointed out that the federal supreme court has before it at this time suits asking that reapportionment based on the same factors that the new Colorado reapportionment is based be declared unconstitutional.

In the Colorado case, and in those other states with similar problems, the lower house has been restricted on a population basis while the upper house is restricted on a geographic basis.

If the federal supreme court rules that such reapportionment is unconstitutional, Colorado will have to start all over on the problem that has lacked settlement for a number of years.

Overheated Furnace Causes Fire Call

An overheated furnace at the home of R. B. Knap, 1086 Palm Street, caused possible damage to the blower motor the Colorado Springs Fire Department reported Tuesday.

Firemen from Company 4 removed the furnace from the home and replaced it with a new one. The furnace was found to be overheated and the blower motor was damaged. The fire was contained and no one was injured.

Two Soldiers Found Guilty On Riotous Conduct Count

Two Ft. Carson soldiers Tuesday in Municipal Court were found guilty on charges of riotous conduct and each fined $15 by Judge Allan Asher.

The judge also gave the men, Clarence Baysdel, 23, and Thomas Charo, 21, fifteen day jail sentences which he suspended on grounds that the two soldiers not be back in court again for six months. Judge Asher dismissed breach of peace charges against the two.

Police officers E. Banks and Charles Davis testified that they had witnessed the two soldiers "swapping punches with each other" Jan. 17 in front of St. Barn. Charo testified that he had Air Defense Command Safety grabbed Baysdel whom he said had swung at another man and had told him to "hold it." Baysdel agreed with his friend's testimony, saying he thought Charo was trying to help him since he had been in trouble before.

Judge Asher told the two he did not know whether they were attempting to break up a fight or participate in one but said their actions did constitute riotous conduct, finding both guilty.

Charles Black, 23, also of Ft. Carson, was found guilty of a drunk charge and fined $25, $15 of which the judge suspended, telling the soldier not to be back in court for a similar charge in the future.

Michael Jackson, 20, of Ent Air Force Base, was fined $50 on a concealed weapons charge, and the weapons, a blackjack and a roll of taped nails inside a glove, were ordered destroyed. The judge told the airman $25 of the fine would be suspended on "Our biggest problem," he grounds that he not appear in court again within one year's time.

The judge handed down the following findings on traffic cases: Wilfred Fox, 41, 3701 Dixon Way, not guilty of careless driving, Clarence Hasty, 76, 3519 N. El Paso, guilty of careless driving and fined $15. Clarence Potter, 19, 2618 E. Gunnison St., guilty of driving a defective vehicle, $10 fine.

James Glayser, 17, 1218 La Paloma, not guilty of careless driving, Roy Roberts, 34, 333 W. Vermijo, guilty of making an illegal left turn, $10 fine which was suspended on there being no further violation of a moving nature in one year's time, and Edward Joyce, 16, 1401 Avenue A, guilty of careless driving and speeding, with $50 fines on each. ## New Parsonage Planned At St. John's Baptist

A new parsonage for the St. John's Baptist Church, 227 Polk St., will be built at the intersection of Santa Fe Street, the church announced Tuesday.

The new parsonage will be a two-story building, approximately 1,000 square feet in area, and will be built on a lot owned by the church. The estimated cost of the building is $10,000.

Today's Weather

(Report furnished by U. S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field on at 5:30 a.m. today)

The storm that Tuesday moved up the eastern seaboard and brought rain and snow to the northeast has this morning reached Nova Scotia on its way northeastward into the north Atlantic.

Some snow and freezing rain and drizzle remains in northern New England and light snow and drizzle continuing over a large area of the Appalachians from Kentucky, northward across the Ohio Valley into the Great Lakes region.

Light snow is also falling behind a southward advancing cold front over the northern Plains and the upper Mississippi Valley.

Along the west coast, a weak frontal system across the Pacific coast states has some showers and intermittent rain associated with it from southern California, northward to the Puget Sound area.

Early morning temperatures were cold over most southern areas with freezing temperatures reaching the Gulf and Atlantic coasts and portions of the lower Rio Grande Valley and northern Florida.

Southern Florida had readings in the low 50s except for low 60s in the Keys.

The Pacific coast was cloudy and mild with readings near 50 the rule from coastal Washington southward into California.

Below zero readings were rare with a few reports just around the zero mark scattered thru northern Illinois, Iowa and Wisconsin.

The great share of the remaining sections of the country had readings in the teens and 20s.

Rodeo Issues Call for Girl of West

The Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo issued a call today to all attractive and personable young ladies in the region who have a talent for horsemanship.

Attracting a flood of applicants for the Girl of the West and her aides for the rodeo is never a chore. Annually the list of applicants is a long one.

The board simply hopes to insure, by this public announcement, that no attractive young horsewoman is overlooked. Members of the board are W. Thayer Tutt, Kenneth D. Brookhard, Jasper D. Ackerman, Harold Heyse, and K. G. Freyschlag.

All girls interested in competing for a spot in the Girl of the West program should send in applications before Feb. 25. The schedule and the method of competition will be announced at a later date.

Qualifications are as follows: 1. Applicants must be a senior in high school or a student of college age. Applicants should be 17 years of age or older, and single.

2. Applicants must reside somewhere in the Pikes Peak Region, either in the urban or rural areas, but close enough to be conveniently available for the many appearances in Colorado Springs.

3. Applicants must be attractive, personable, capable of appearing before a group, and possess good horsemanship ability. As an aide to the Girl of the West, she represents not only the rodeo but also the entire community in many appearances throughout the state during the summer.

4. Applicant should include pictures of the applicant, showing her in the lasso, schooling, age, background, and at articles of interest in horsemanship and any other pertinent information the applicant wishes to list.

5. Applications must be in by Monday, Feb. 25. They should be mailed to Pikes Peak Rodeo, P. O. Box 100, Colorado Springs.

Defense Frontier Strung Across Arctic Areas

By DOUGLAS DILT
CLEAR, Alaska (UPI) — If the Soviets launched a missile attack against the United States today, it would come from over the Arctic, air defense commanders believe. That's because the "Polar Route" is within the closest striking distance to the heartland of the United States, they say. Rockets, armed with nuclear warheads, would come raining down on huge population centers of the U.S. mainland within a few minutes.

Defense commanders point out that in the Alaskan defense frontier there is a mere 49 miles of sea separating this state and Siberia—the closest point between the United States and Russia.

U.S. commanders admit there is no defense against enemy missiles at this time. The best that could be done would be to detect rockets racing across the top of the world and give the U.S. mainland a 15-minute warning.

The United States has devised a defense network of three "watchtowers" across the top of the world.

It is called Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS).

Perhaps the most important of these stations is the one located here in the remote Alaskan back country—some 60 miles from Fairbanks. The temperature now ranges 50 to 60 below.

This site is closest of the three "watchtowers" to Russia. Another is at Thule, Greenland, and the third is nearing completion at Fylingdales moor, England. Cost to U.S. taxpayers—$1 billion.

The primary job of the BMEWS is to provide advance warning of a missile attack. This station, like the others, has a scanning range of 3,000 miles or more over all the Eurasian land mass from which missiles could be launched.

The BMEWS station here has three towering fixed antennas, 400 feet long and 165 feet high, for detection.

There also are tracking radars which follow the path of attacking rockets once they are detected by the bigger antennas.

The radar beams from the sites at Clear and Thule—and soon from England—form an electronic warning umbrella by fanning out across the top of the world.

Should a Soviet missile be launched, the alarm would be signaled to the North American Defense Command (NORAD) headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo. This would give the United States, in terms of time, a warning of a quarter of an hour.

This would be enough to send America's devastating retaliatory power, ICBM's and Strategic Air Command bombers, against the enemy in the early stages of conflict.

The United States has an anti-missile missile, the Nike Zeus, but it is not yet operational.

A Soviet missile attack, in event of a nuclear war, also would come from submarines. But the main attack, military officials believe, would come from over the top of the world.

"This is our most critical area," a defense commander said.

Quarantine Must Be Retained, Cattleman Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — An allowed to weaken quarantines would allow the entry of livestock diseases. American National Cattlemen's Association official warned here. C.W. McMillan, vice president of the National Association, Denver, said that the nation's beef supply could be destroyed if global politics and economic pressures were not to afford even one slip which McMillan, speaking at the Louisiana Cattlemen's Association convention, said hoof-and-mouth disease had been kept out of the United States for 35 years. Any infection now, he said, would race from border to border with little chance of control. McMillan said in countries where herds were infected, such as Argentina, cattle had built up some immunity and were not intermingled as frequently as in this country.

"We are fearful that individual and agencies, not understanding the real problem, will bow to world politics and almost unbearable pressures on world trade patterns being created by the European Common Market for countries such as Argentina," he said.

McNichols Says Mental Health Deteriorating

LOUISVILLE, Colo. (UPI) — Ex-Gov. Steve McNichols said here it appears that Colorado mental health program is "deteriorating" under the new Republican state administration.

The former Democratic governor, who lost in a bid for a third term last November, said it would be tragic for the mental health or other programs, such as resource development and education, to deteriorate.

Speaking at a Democratic fundraising dinner in his honor before an overflow crowd of 260 at this small Boulder County town, McNichols mentioned the successful efforts made during his six years in office in hiring psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers for the State Hospital at Pueblo and the Fort Logan Mental Health Center.

"Now I hear stories, and some of them appear to be true, about that program (mental health) deteriorating," he said. He also said that plans for the new Southern Colorado State College were lagging under the GOP leadership.

As to future elections, McNichols said he plans to "do everything that I can to regenerate the Democratic party."

Noisy Ghost Haunts Trailer in England

ASHGTON KEYNES, England. UPI — A noisy ghost with a taste for pop songs is rocking and rolling a house trailer near here, a Church of England vicar said today.

The Rev. John Johnstone said the ghost makes the trailer "dance" and throws things about every time the 13-year-old boy who lives in the trailer sings pop songs.

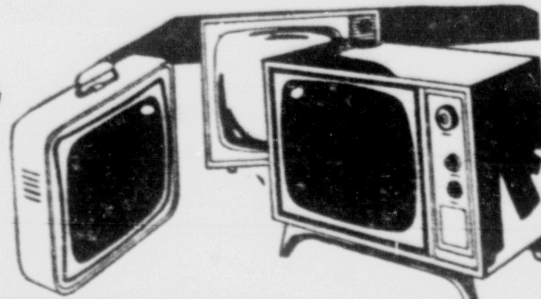

But the ghost quiets down, the vicar said, when he sings hymns. Johnstone said the ghost began haunting the trailer, where the boy and his mother live, when the roof was removed from a haunted cottage nearby eight months ago.

"I went to the trailer Sunday to pray, carrying my Bible, and commanded the ghost to quit this home and leave this woman in peace," the vicar said. "But when I left, the trailer rocked and shook and things flew through the air. It was terrifying. 'The only thing to do now,' he said, 'is move the trailer.'"

Remarkable food helps people over 40 enjoy vibrant living

AFTER 40 your body begins to feel the years and, chances are, you lack the pep and energy you had when you were younger.

• You can't roll back the calendar, but you can help build up your energy and endurance by fortifying your diet with the vital nutrients found in Kretschmer Wheat Germ.

• Nature has stored an abundance of nutritional wealth in wheat germ, which supplies 30 elements essential to health and energy. Wheat germ gives you more natural vitamins, minerals and protein than any other single food.

• Calorie for calorie, Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually offers you more all-around nutrition than meat, eggs, milk, bread, fruits, or vegetables.

• In addition to providing an abundance of natural nutrition, Kretschmer Wheat Germ boosts your energy and endurance by acting like a spark plug to help your body use other high-energy foods more fully.

• Kretschmer Wheat Germ is the "growth" part, or germinating heart, of the wheat made into tiny toasted flakes. It can be added to cereal or fruit, used in baking and breadings, served in many interesting ways.

• Why not help build up your pep and energy by adding Kretschmer Wheat Germ to your meals? It's economical, costing only about 1¢ a day. You'll find Kretschmer Wheat Germ, plain or with Sugar 'n Honey, in vacuum-sealed jars in the cereal section of your food store.

Seminary Dean Knows How to Get Sandwich

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The next time Dr. John N. Sims takes a trip he'll make sure the train has a diner attached.

Sims, a faculty member of the Baptist Seminary School of Music, was returning with a friend from a concert at Mississippi College.

They boarded a train with one passenger coach up front but with no facilities for food. A stop was made at Paris, Tenn., and Sims sprinted for a snack bar 50 yards away.

The train pulled out and Sims, clutching a bag of sandwiches, made a desperate leap and landed on a flat car five lengths back. Then followed a hair-raising effort to make his way forward while the train picked up speed. Hanging to the rods hobo style, he finally reached the coach, the bag of sandwiches gripped between his teeth.

THE SUBJECT OF FISHING

TARANTO, Italy (AP)—Tradition will soon give way to schooling as the way to teach youngsters from this southern port the art of fishing.

As part of the government's efforts to modernize Italy's fishing industry, courses will be given in such things as locating the richest fishing fields, conservation and use of new equipment.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

CANCER VIRUSES

Most of us regard viruses as disease producers that are passed along through the air or by means of contaminated water, food, or fingers. This is true of those that cause respiratory infections, measles, or mumps.

But they are capable of causing other abnormalities and defects in a more subtle way. They do this by attacking cells responsible for hereditary traits. They also can change normal cells into cancer cells that are capable of duplicating themselves to form large malignancies.

Thirty or more viruses are known to produce cancers. They reside inside the body and are not passed along like those of the common cold or flu. Viruses are inactive unless they operate in combination with other forms of life. But viruses are far from weak and are capable of doing considerable damage.

No one ever saw a virus until 1940 when the electron microscope was developed. The best microscopes that utilize light can magnify an object 2,000 times. The electron microscope magnifies up to 300,000 times and brings many micro-structures into view, including cells and viruses.

The virus cannot act without entering a cell. When it does, its outer coat is left outside. The coat is made of protein and how this fact was determined is a feat that equals the discovery of the electron microscope. It is done with a spectroscopic instrument capable of making a chemical analysis of molecular size samples, and determining the concentration of ingredients in parts per million.

Biochemical analysis is detailed and time consuming. Many different pieces of equipment are required and they have been automated to increase laboratory efficiency.

We are living in a wonderful world and scientists working on viruses, cells, and chemicals that determine our heredity deserve as much attention as those building rockets with which they hope to reach the moon. The results of work on the microscopic world of atoms and molecules should uncover the basic secrets of life—that is, where life begins.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Funnel Chest

N. V. writes: The doctor says our 6 month old child has a shoe-maker's chest and that nothing need be done about it until he is 16 years old. Please explain this condition.

Reply

I assume you refer to funnel chest, in which the breastbone has a caved in appearance. This is a congenital defect and nothing need be done, even at age 16, if there are no symptoms. On the other hand, surgery is advised if the indented bone presses upon the heart and produces chest pain on exertion.

Pounding Heart

E. M. writes: What is the cause of palpitation of the heart when the condition is not organic?

Reply

The most like possibilities are heart consciousness, cardiac neuroses, and other anxiety syndromes. Palpitation may occur also as a result of severe anemia or overactive thyroid gland, conditions that affect the heart adversely, even though the organ is not diseased.

Nasal Infection

G. H. writes: Whenever my 9 year old son gets a cold I detect an odor coming from his nose. What causes this? His tonsils are out.

Reply

Odors are detected in many infections, including those involving the nose.

Cramping Is Common

E. I. writes: I took a sitting-down job a few months ago and since then have suffered from foot and leg cramps at night. Could the job be responsible?

Reply

Yes, but leg cramps are so rare, the job may be coincidental in your case.

Swimming After Surgery

D. F. writes: How long after an operation (gall bladder and appendix removal) can a person go swimming?

Reply

As soon as the incision is healed.

Baby Habits

Mrs. Z. writes: Which is the worst habit in a baby—sucking the thumb or two of the fingers?

Reply

Two digits may be worse than one. Actually, finger and thumb sucking are normal infantile habits. Should they persist into childhood, deformities of the mouth or teeth may ensue.

Local Dealers To Attend State Meet in Denver

Gov. John Love will give the welcoming address Monday at the 30th annual convention of the Colorado Grain and Feed Dealers Assn. at the Denver Hilton Hotel.

Robert S. Davis of Colorado Springs, is president of the state association. Also attending the three-day convention from Colorado Spring will be Alfred E. Owens, Edd Hock and Lester Dawson.

The keynote address will be given Monday at a noon luncheon by Robert C. Woodworth, vice president of Cargill, Inc., of Minneapolis.

Woodworth, who is internationally known as a leader in grain marketing, will discuss, "Agriculture's Year of Decision".

On Tuesday, the 500 delegates will hear discussions on sedimentation testing, new grain processing equipment and the state's truck bonding law.

The annual business meeting and election of officers Tuesday afternoon will conclude the 1963 convention.

Sheep Scabies Found In Flock From Holyoke

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California State Agriculture Department has ruled that Colorado sheep imported into California will have to be treated for scabies.

Agricultural Director Charles Paul issued the order Thursday after sheep scabies was discovered in a flock shipped from Holyoke, Colo.

There has been no sheep scabies in California, Paul said, and the order was issued to prevent an outbreak of the disease.

The U.S. Forest Service reports that the acreage of national forests burned in 1962 was the smallest since 1937. Total acres burned in 1962 was 87,993 compared with 234,394 in 1961.

Fatal Farm Accidents In Colorado Set Record

A report compiled by the Colorado State Health Department on fatal farm accidents shows that agriculture recorded more work deaths than any other occupation or industry in the state during the five-year period from 1957 to 1961.

The report was presented today at the annual meeting of the State Agricultural Planning Committee in Denver.

The report notes that work accidents on farms caused 96 deaths in Colorado during the five-year period, compared with 73 fatalities in the mining and oil industry and 72 in construction.

Agriculture also was the only occupation or industry responsible for deaths of children under the age of 15 years in the "work accident" category, accounting for nine deaths in this age group during the period.

In addition to the 96 "on-the-job" fatalities of persons engaged in usual farming activities, 99 other deaths resulted from "non-work" accidents occurring on farms in the five-year period.

1963 Domestic Farm Labor Supply to Be Short of Need

Colorado's farm labor needs this year are expected to be about the same as in 1962 except for work in sugar beets and the peach harvest, the Colorado Dept. of Employment reported this week.

In its annual farm labor report for 1962, the Department's farm placement service said seasonal labor requirements for spring sugar beet work may be only slightly more than last year despite an increase in beet acreage, while peach harvesting may be reduced considerably because of weather damaged trees.

No substantial changes in acreage or mechanization are anticipated this year, according to the report.

As in past years, the domestic labor supply will not be sufficient to meet the demand in certain crop activities, and foreign labor

The total of farm accident deaths—195—does not include accidental deaths in or about farm homes and thus the total farm accident death story probably is much greater.

Tractor accidents were responsible for the largest number of on-the-job farm fatalities, accounting for 38 of the 96 deaths recorded. Electrocuting, farm equipment other than tractors, and falls were the other major types of fatal farm work accidents.

In the "non-work accident" category, 42 of the 99 fatalities were drowning victims. Gunshot accidents, the second leading cause of death claimed 31 victims. The report notes that fatal non-work accidents on farms were concentrated in younger age groups: of the 99 deaths, 65 were between one and 19 years of age.

The largest number of fatal farm work accidents occurred during the months of May and August; July and August were the "high" months for fatal farm non-work accidents.

Rare Wine Must Undergo Delicate Process

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON
LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) — Mrs. Alice Nightingale has a unique job: dry-harvesting spores of a grape mold with a fingernail-size vacuum cleaner for the production of a rare white wine.

Mrs. Nightingale's husband, Myron, is chief wine maker of the Cresta Blanca Wine Co. The mold is Botrytis cinerea. The wine is Cresta Blanca Premier Semillon. You can obtain the gourmet beverage, a dessert wine, in only a handful of top restaurants in the United States.

Or you can buy it at the winery for $5.45 a fifth when it's available. Production is limited to about 1,000 gallons a year and no increase is planned, says Nightingale.

He explains that no other winery in the United States makes the wine although a few have tried. It requires a combination of old-fashioned hand care and ultramodern science laboratory techniques.

Vineyard-botrytised grapes grow in a few favored localities of Europe. In years when weather conditions are ideal, those localities produce white table wines with distinctive sweetness and bouquet. The most famous and expensive ones in the world—France's Chateau d'Yquem and Germany's Trockenbeerenauslese of the best estates, respectively — are made from botrytised grapes.

At Cresta Blanca, selected clusters of Semillon grapes are hand-picked on the peak morning of their maturity. They are inoculated with Botrytis. In the "noble" state, the fungus infection breaks the skin of each grape which then loses moisture by evaporation. The shriveling increases the percentage of sugar in the juice while the Botrytis imparts its own piquant flavor.

University of California College of Agriculture scientists worked 11 years, the last five jointly with Cresta Blanca technicians, to develop the wine.

Botrytis fungus is common in U.S. grape growing areas but usually, because of weather conditions, the "noble" state doesn't develop. Botrytis rot and undesirable secondary infections create a serious problem for wine grape growers in California, where days may be too warm and dry and nights too cool and moist.

Cresta Blanca gets around that by using pure laboratory-grown Botrytis for spray inoculation of the grape clusters after they are spread on racks in a closed laboratory. Temperature, air circulation, humidity and other environmental factors are carefully regulated while infection (1 to 2 days) and dehydration (6 to 14 days) occur.

The winery, which makes many other varieties of wine on a large scale, has facilities for handling only 18 tons of botrytised grapes each year.

Mrs. Nightingale is working these off-season days with her newly developed dry harvesting of spores from bottle "gardens." She sweeps her tiny vacuum brush back and forth across the cultures much as a housewife vacuums a rug. The cleaner picks up the spores but not other unwanted parts of the fungus or the culture medium.

Her goal is half a cup of Botrytis spores. That will be enough, she says, to inoculate the 18 tons of grapes for next September's Premier Semillon pressing.

New Soil and Water Program Proposed by Stewart Udall

A new working relationship between the nation's 2,900 Soil Conservation Districts and the Dept. of Interior has been proposed by Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall.

Udall outlined the suggested program, aimed at "doing a better job on our intermingled land problems," before delegates to the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts meeting in Denver last week.

He stressed the "incredible checkerboarding" of land ownership in areas which, logistically, form a unit. "Public, private, state and county lands, national forests, reservations more often than not occur together within one small watershed area," he said.

He cited the "many individual agreements and projects which conservation districts have engaged in with various Department of Interior bureaus. He observed, however, that there is no provision for a coordinated departmental agreement on ways of attacking mutual land and water problems.

"We are prepared," he told the delegates, "to enter into such a departmental working arrangement with this nation's 2,900 soil conservation districts—broadening individual bureau pacts into an overall departmental effort to insure coordination of land and water rehabilitation."

Outdoor recreation needs "hereafter must be one of the prime considerations in use and management of public lands," Udall said.

He outlined the recreational potential of public domain lands—2.5 million acres suitable for public use in areas which, logistically, form a unit. "Public, private, state and county lands, national forests, reservations more often than not occur together within one small watershed area," he said.

Rural Problems Take Spotlight At State Meet

El Paso County 4-H leaders and home demonstration agents are in Denver today and Thursday for the annual State Agricultural Planning Committee meeting.

Delegates to the conference will discuss statewide rural problems including livestock marketing, water resources, 4-H leadership, public education and safety.

Felix Sparks, former director of the State Water Conservation Board and now director of the Dept. of Natural Resources, will give the keynote address at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Other business conducted Thursday will be the election of officers and committee reports.

Attending the conference from El Paso County are Mrs. Edwin Rieb, Roy McCune, Charles Gregg, Mrs. Lee Carlson, Mrs. Lynn Bryan, Mrs. Lee Alger, Mrs. Deibert Wells, Mrs. Bruce Younger, Ruth Applethun, Forest McWilliams and Hank Anderson.

New Barley Bulletin Available From CSU

A new bulletin, "Barley in Colorado," has been published by the Colorado State University experiment station.

Objective of the bulletin, according to its authors, is "to present the latest information on cultural practices, improved varieties, and other factors which contribute to efficient production of barley on Colorado farms."

The bulletin covers production of both spring and winter barleys under both irrigated and dryland conditions. It also summarizes results of variety tests at locations throughout the state and describes recommended varieties.

Copies of the bulletin may be obtained from county extension offices or from Bulletin Room, Colorado State University, Fort Collins. Ask for Bulletin 513-S, "Barley in Colorado."

Authors include Professor D. W. Robertson, internationally known barley expert; Professor T. E. Haus; H. Fauber; R. H. Tucker, retired extension agronomist; W. G. Stewart, extension agronomist; and J. F. Brandon, retired USDA agronomist.

DR. LEON S. POPE

CSU Announces Livestock Days Program Events

Dr. Leon S. Pope, professor of animal husbandry at Oklahoma State University, will be featured speaker during Colorado State University's Livestock Days program beginning Feb. 25 at Fort Collins.

Dr. Pope will discuss the effect of nutrition levels on the lifetime production of beef cows during Beef Producers' Day. He will also appear on the Feeders' Day program to discuss the effect of feeding and management on carcass quality.

Reports on research and industry problems will be given during the four-day program on different phases of the livestock business.

At a joint luncheon Feb. 27, the CSU Stockman of 1963 will be honored. Guest speaker at the luncheon will be C. W. McMillan, executive vice-president of the American National Cattlemen's Assn.

Chairman of the 1963 Livestock Days program is Vern B. Swan, of the CSU Animal Science Dept.

Hunter Safety Class Members To Tour Carson

Four-H members, and their families, who recently completed a 10-hour hunter safety program course, will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday at Gate 2 at Ft. Carson for a tour of the range and artillery areas.

The 60 members who completed the course, sponsored by the National Rifle Assn., received hunter safety NRA emblems and cards.

Instructors were Joe Coniff, Jim Hackett, Dick Watson and Ted Roe, all members of the Isaac Walton League.

Roe said that instruction is available to other groups at no charge and that a minimum of 12 must be enrolled in any one course. For further information, contact members of the Isaac Walton League.

A demonstration on artificial respiration was given by Nancy and Charlotte Hentges.

The club made Valentine Day favors for nursing homes.

WOODMEN
The food club held a project meeting at the home of Mrs. Paul Thompson. Attending the meeting were Stephanie Thompson, Mary Ann Lammers, Debbie Gillen, Paula Lindaman, Mary Wills, Susan Wolfe and Hollie Claycomb.

Stephanie Thompson conducted judging on bowls and spoons.

Regular club meetings will be held on the first and fourth Tuesday of each month. The next meeting will be Feb. 26.

The lumbercraft club will hold its first meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Russell Wolfe residence. Extended to the project are Betty Gould, Paula Thompson, Karen Stover, Ned Gately, Anthony Lammers, Dick Shuster and Steve Thibault.

National Western Star Leads Pro-Rodeo Circuit

Denver, Feb. 11 — Husky Sonny Davis, 28, of Kenna, N.M., today emerged pro rodeo's top money winner of the week, following the annual El Paso, Tex., rodeo.

Davis, an agile 220 - pounder, roped up a storm in the Texas city's indoor arena, tying down two calves in 25.4 seconds to win $1,258.94. His victory hiked his lariat winnings to $7,044.99, which gives him a $2,000 edge on his nearest rival for 1963's calf roping championship, in early season tabulations.

The new Mexico roping specialist got away to a big start early last month at Denver's National Western rodeo where he sacked up $3,109 in one swoop.

Other competition at the Texas rodeo saw southwest cowboys nail victories in all but saddle bronc riding. Bob A. Robinson, 29, of Tuttle, Okla., won that event, worth $378.94.

Bobby Guinn, Euless, Tex., won the bull riding, and $1,028.34. Keith Freeman, Collinsville, Okla., steer wrestling, $1,170.31; and Dave Reidhead, Phoenix, Ariz., bareback bronc riding, $786.31.

A total of 287 contestants competed for a $16,823.94 prize money lump.

At Yuma, Ariz., where another rodeo ran concurrently with El Paso, Dale Smith, 34, of Chandler, Ariz., won $841.39 in calf roping and team roping, to capture the game's all-around cowboy championship lead.

Smith has an $868.41 bulge over Oklahoma Tom Nesmith, 1962's all-around champion, who had gone to the front again this season following the Fort Worth rodeo ten days ago. Smith's winnings are $5,475.38.

Arizona event winners were: Don Flanagan, Danville, Calif., bareback bronc riding, $621.20; Casey Tibbs, Los Angeles, saddle bronc riding, $573.18; Manuel Costa, Visalia, Calif., bull riding, $641.77; C. T. Jones, Jonesboro, Ark., calf roping, $942.12; Poog Brenton, Blythe, Calif., steer wrestling, $292.40; Howard Nichols and Gilbert Nichols, Gilbert, Ariz., team roping, $830.86 each.

Steer Wrestling: Sherman Sulins, Booth, Tex., $3,952; C. R. Boucher, Burk Burnett, Tex., $3,645; Tom Nesmith, Carliss, La., $3,400; Dan Battistoni, Dickinson, Tex., $2,971; and Jim Charles, Oakdale, Calif., $2,462.

DeGaulle Puts Nikita Under Lucky Red Star

NEW YORK (NEA) — Who will deny that Nikita Khrushchev was born under a lucky star? He is one Russian politician who survived Stalin's purges and has lived to see his great dream of a rift in NATO come true.

President De Gaulle's rejection of Britain's entry into the European Common Market comes at a moment when the Soviet premier is himself engaged in a bitter feud with Red China's Mao Tse-tung. He is also facing a nagging economic crisis behind the Iron Curtain.

Now Khrushchev's troubles have been largely overshadowed by the tragic discord in the West. It has given the Soviet premier an opportunity to convince his Red Chinese rival and tormentor that Moscow's soft sell pays diplomatic dividends. It succeeded where Mao's revolutionary brinkmanship might have failed.

Red belligerence in the past usually forced the NATO allies to draw closer together and mend disagreements in their own camp through diplomatic negotiations. But Khrushchev's current "soft policy" seems to have lulled fears of Red aggression and encouraged the Western nations to quarrel openly among themselves.

The Soviet premier is too shrewd to open his cards at this stage in the West's discord. Judged by the Soviet press, he seeks to gain his advantage by directing his pressure against West Germany considered by Moscow as the more vulnerable member of the North Atlantic alliance.

Now it is Bonn's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who, the Russians claim, is chief villain in the Common Market drama. According to Moscow's Pravda, the "double dealing Germans" deliberately provoked the Western crisis by playing off France against Britain.

However, Western diplomats have not forgotten the Stalin-Hitler Pact. They are convinced that the Soviet premier is negotiating secretly with the West Germans even as he attacks them.

Is Khrushchev's long-range plan to isolate the West Germans by maneuvering them out of NATO about to succeed?

As long as Konrad Adenauer remains at the helm in Bonn, Moscow's diplomatic intrigues are likely to fail. But the 87-year-old chancellor is pledged to retire this year. Khrushchev is aware that there are influential West German industrialists and politicians who eye wistfully the Red bloc's vast markets and whose orientation is pro-Russian.

The German "neutralists" may not love the Russians. But they have just as little love for De Gaulle and the British. Russia, in their view, is also the only power in a position to unite Germany.

It will thus require all of President Kennedy's wisdom and diplomatic tact to counter Moscow's intrigues and end as speedily as possible the discord in NATO. Time is not on the side of the West.

Diplomacy is the art of the possible. The schemes of some of President Kennedy's academic advisers to punish and "isolate" De Gaulle and revive NATO without France is bad diplomacy and completely unrealistic.

"A European alliance without France is like a wedding without a bride," a Western diplomat told this writer.

France is a key European power and essential to the defense of the West. De Gaulle cannot be discredited by President Kennedy's New Frontiersmen as another Napoleon. As long as he guides French policy he cannot be isolated or ignored.

President Kennedy would be wise to find a face-saving gimmick for a meeting with De Gaulle when he visits Italy and West Germany in the spring. An Agreement with the French president should be the primary aim of U.S. diplomacy.

Admittedly De Gaulle is a difficult and stubborn man who clings to his preposterous vision of France's "grandeur" in the Atomic Age. It will take time, effort and patience to convince him that he made a mistake in attempting to keep Britain out of the Common Market. But if we can negotiate with Khrushchev, surely we can negotiate with De Gaulle. The purpose of any diplomatic negotiations is to reconcile different national interests. This is especially true of allies face with a common enemy.

A trial of strength between the 72-year-old De Gaulle and the 45-year-old Kennedy can only end in a victory for Premier Khrushchev.

Water Hose Is Not Suitable in Winter

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) — Fred Jackson, porter at the St. Louis County Courthouse in Clayton, learned one thing this winter: you don't hose down the sidewalk when it's almost zero.

Jackson's lack of attention to the temperature created a huge expanse of ice on the wide concrete sidewalks and approaches to the courthouse. It looked something like a skating rink.

Witnesses said dignified county officials stepped like ballerinas as they cautiously negotiated the ice to the courthouse front door.

Jackson, meanwhile, was sent out with a ice chopper and rock salt to undo his work.

Storm Drainage Regulations Approved by City Council

An ordinance for regulation of storm drainage construction procedures in the city was passed on first reading Tuesday by the Colorado Springs City Council.

The law, worked out by council members, home builders and land developers, provides for storm drainage construction in advance of land development and building construction.

The council conditionally passed an ordinance annexing a 13.86-acre tract northeast of North Circle Dr. with Holiday Lane. The ordinance approval is subject to complying with provisions of the new storm drainage ordinance.

The City Council also: Passed an ordinance vacating portions of Alpine Drive. Passed an ordinance amending a section of the City Code relating to disability retirement benefits to the Police Department Relief Fund.

Tabled until its first March meeting an annexation ordinance for a 31-acre tract known as Sunny Side Addition, northeast of the Galley Road intersection with the proposed Academy Boulevard.

Okayed a request by R. D. Nixon, superintendent of the Department of Public Utilities, to transfer land from the department to El Paso County for a right-of-way near Pikeview Reservoir for the new county road connection from Rinsburg Valley Road to North Nevada Avenue.

Granted a request of the department of public works to include the 2100, 2200 and 2300 blocks of North Weber Street in the next improvement district.

Granted a request for the city to participate in installing drainage facilities in Park Hill Subdivision No. 3 and Eastmorland Subdivision Nos. 1 and 2.

Approved attorneys fees for H. T. McGarry and Donald LaMora.

Received a petition for street paving on Wheeler Street between the city limits east of 25th Street and Langmeyer Street.

Referred to the city attorney a claim for $15.50 damages filed by Daniel J. Fisher, 3025 Draconstone Dr.

Denied a damage claim filed by Mrs. Kenneth Wiley, 110 S. 25th St., on recommendations of the city attorney and director of public works.

Passed a resolution certifying the state highway mileage within the city limits to the state auditor; there are now 275.09 miles of streets in the city, an increase of 12.20 miles in 1962.

Approved an ordinance establishing two new voting precincts in northeast Colorado Springs, bringing the total number of voting precincts to 51.

Approved an ordinance increasing election judges and clerks pay from $10 to $15 and compensating for return of ballot boxes and supplies from $2 to $4 in each precinct.

Granted a request by Jerry Wagner, president, Wagner-Joslyn Company, 2827 Valley Hi Ave., for the city to participate in the extension of Sierra Madre Street to the proposed extension of Las Vegas Street.

Granted a request by the Department of Public Works to set Feb. 21 as the final date on which petitions will be received for inclusion in the next improvement District.

Realtors Board To List Property For Sale by City

The job of selling some downtown property owned by the City of Colorado Springs has been given to the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors and its members.

City Council Tuesday authorized a contract with the realtors to sell the property at the southwest corner of Cimarron and Sierra Madre Streets. The property, formerly used by the city street department, was advertised for sale and appraised at $50,000.

Bids were to be opened Feb. 6 in the City Manager's office, but no bids were received.

By contracting with the Board of Realtors, Council will see that the city property will be listed with all member realtor firms and placed on the multiple listing exchange.

Council agreed to adopt a resolution authorizing any city property that has been appraised and advertised for bids at a minimum of the appraised price, and no bids received, be listed with the Board of Realtors.

The action ends the need for individual action on each piece of property to be taken to the council.

Women Marines Mark 20th Anniversary

Today marks the 20th anniversary of the Women Marines.

The first utilization of women in the Marine Corps came in August, 1918. Altogether 305 "Marinettes" performed administrative duties in the corps during World War I. They were disbanded at the conclusion of that conflict.

Women were reestablished as a part of the Marine Corps on Feb. 13, 1943. This date is the official birthday of the Women Marines.

Some 19,000 women saw service during World War II, performing over 200 military assignments in the continental United States and in Hawaii. All but around 200 were released by September, 1946.

During the Korean War nearly 3,000 Women Marines relieved their male counterparts for combat duty.

Originally given a wartime mission of freeing male Marines to fight, today's Women Marines, numbering approximately 1,500, serve primarily as a nucleus for expansion in the event of mobilization.

They perform duties in 125 different job specialties ranging from administration to work in highly technical fields.

Applicants for enlistment must be single, a high school graduate, between the ages of 18-30, inclusive, of unimpeachable moral character and in excellent health.

License Granted For New Owners Of Tavern

A beer, wine and liquor license was granted Tuesday by the Colorado Springs City Council to the Jabarta Corporation for the Kona Lounge, 118 N. Cascade Ave.

The license was previously held by Jack and Elsie McClure. The lounge is located in the Alta Vista Hotel which was bought recently by the corporation.

Council also granted a new hearing for reconsideration of a request by Jerry Q. Ives to transfer a liquor license from 11 N. Tejon St. to 117 S. Tejon St.

The request was made by Ives' counsel, David H. Morris.

Assisting Gilles and Teske as vocal coach and consultant will be Harold Lynn who sang the role of Ralph in the 1947 production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta.

J. D. Barnes, head of Palmer's Drama Department, is technical director. W. N. Smith is training the orchestra. Mrs. Marjorie Auerand is costume consultant, and Roberta Rupp is dialogue coach.

Charles Burdick, a Palmer senior, is student director, and Valerie Emerick and Ellen Matteson are co-chairmen of the costume committee.

Army's Role With NORAD Told at ROA Meeting Here

Defense against the intercontinental ballistic missile "is with-assume grave proportions in the question the number one requirement" for the air and space defense system of America to-day, Lt. Gen. William W. Dick commanding general of the Air Defense Command designed to meet the threat to ARADCOM, said here today. ARADCOM, who commands the day is already an upgraded one nationwide force of surface-to-air and missile units made available by the Army to the North American Air Defense Command, addressed the Ft. Carson chapter of the Reserve Officers Association. Outlining the Army's role as a member of the international, multi-service NORAD team, he discussed the evolution of Army Air Defense weapons from anti-aircraft artillery guns still in use one decade ago to the Nike Zeus, an anti-missile now in development. He pointed out that the Zeus both at White Sands Missile Range and out in the Pacific

Missile Range where, in shoots kills of bombers and other air-borne targets operating within the ICBM target nose comes the sensible atmosphere. He noted, however, that the ICBM

School for Handicapped To Start After Open House

A select school for some seven or eight handicapped children will open Monday, following an Open House on Sunday.

Teaching the children in the United Cerebral Palsy Association Preschool will be Mrs. Thomas Grasham a vivacious young mother who has worked with handicapped children in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Grasham, the wife of an attorney, came to Colorado Springs from Tulsa with her family last fall. "We got here just in time to work on the United Fund drive," she reports.

Now she begins teaching in the school of one of the agencies benefited by the drive.

The Preschool at 2536 North Logan Street will be open to the public from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. Hosting the opening will be members of the United Cerebral Palsy Association and the Centennial Sertoma Club who remodeled the double garage at the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center into the attractive school room. The small class in the opening sessions will provide the new teacher an opportunity to work individually with children afflicted with the crippling cerebral palsy in various forms.

Some cerebral palsied children have little control of their motions, while others are only mildly supplement the work already being done for the cerebral palsied thru therapy in the Rocky Mountain Rehabilitation Center.

The Rehabilitation Center is financed thru various agencies including the Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the United Fund allocations to the cerebral Palsy Association and the Association for Retarded Children which purchase services.

Mrs. Grasham is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Since she arrived here she has been active in the work of her sorority which has a chapter at Colorado College.

Her work in Tulsa, Oklahoma, was with retarded children in the Children's Medical Center.

During the opening days of the Preschool, Mrs. Grasham will be assisted by Mrs. Ann D. Watson, an occupational therapist, who was active in the organization of the Preschool.

The Cerebral Palsy Association plans to make the facility available to handicapped children, other than cerebral palsied in the future, according to Harlan Ochs, president.

The Grashes and their two sons live at 824 North Union. Attorney Grasham is associated with the firm, Cool and Phillips.

Two Operas Set For Thursday Presentation

The Colorado Springs Opera Association will present two operas at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Fine Arts Center. Performances are

The cast includes Bernice Owens as Lulu, Rolf Zinger, Smiley, Paul Bailantyne, Uncle Henry, Hugh Teason, First Crapshooter, Archer Hays, Second Crapshooter, Charles Johnson, Stranger, and Robert Ramsay as the Guitar Player.

The humorous opera is adapted from a story by Mark Twain and the scene is a country saloon in the 1890s.

Josephine Vadala will sing the role of Sister Angelica in Puccini's "Sister Angelica."

Others in the cast are: Gwendolyn Wacker, the Princess; Beth Scott, the Abbess; Margaret Wallace, the Monitor; Ruth Moon, Mistress of the Novices; Lou Ellen Crawford, Sister Genevieve; Florence Bryant, Sister Dolina; Rachel Hatton, the Nursing Sister; Irene Yohn and Dorothy Brown, the Tourieres; Joan Bearzi and Eileen Philpot, the Novices; and Mary Pat Hill and Barbara Manning as the Lay-Sisters.

The scene in this opera takes place at a convent near Sienna, Italy, in the late 17th century.

The box office is at 519 N. Tejon St. and is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Reservations may be had by calling 634-6820.

Mrs. Bertha Lepper Dies; Rites Thursday

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the drawing room of Swan Funeral Home for Mrs. Bertha M. Lepper, 306 W. Boulder, who died Tuesday at a local hospital. She was 87.

Dr. W. G. Schaefer will officiate and burial will be at the Gypsum Hill Cemetery at Salina, Kans.

A resident here for 15 years, Mrs. Lepper was born Sept. 14, 1875, in Hartsville, Pa.

She is a former member of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. Lepper is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Dorothy L. Cleveland of Arlington, Va., and Mrs. Helen Jamieson of Denver; and a son, George W. Lepper of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Asian Flu Expected To Hit Here

Colorado health officials predicted today that an Asian flu outbreak can be expected to appear in the state in about eight to 10 days.

Dr. M. F. Schafer, director of the city-county health department, said it is difficult to predict such things, but with the rate of travel thruout the country, it would be unusual if residents in the Pikes Peak Region were not exposed to the virus.

The virus, or at least something similar to it, has been reported in widespread areas of the eastern half of the nation and more recently in Kansas.

Dr. Cecil S. Molohan, epidemiology chief of the Colorado Health Dept., said today that when such a virus is reported in Kansas, Colorado is generally next in line.

Molohan predicts that the coming outbreak will be considerably smaller than in 1957 and 1960. In 1957, the outbreak was blamed for 83 deaths and there were 35,315 reported cases. In 1960, out of 21,606 cases reported, 61 deaths were recorded.

Schafer and Molohan said flu immunization injections and partial immunization established in previous years should keep the number of cases down this time.

The health department urges flu immunizations for all people, but particularly those with heart, kidney or pulmonary diseases, diabetes and other chronic illnesses and for pregnant women are all persons over the age of 65.

Schafer said that persons rendering vital service in the community, such as teachers, law enforcement officers, firemen and health officials, regardless of age or physical health, should arrange for immunization injections from their family physician.

The vaccine used is known as polyvalent, a combination vaccine used to help fight against several types of influenza including the Asian strain.

School Principal On Panel at National Meeting

John Holcomb, principal of the Ft. Carson Junior High - Elementary School for the past seven years, is at the convention of National Association of Secondary School Principals where he is a panelist.

He will be interrogator on a panel which will discuss the present stand and future developments in science teaching in secondary schools, colleges and universities.

The convention is in Pittsburgh, Penna. An estimated 9,000 school administrators are participating.

Holcomb is an adviser to the Colorado State Department of Education in counseling and guidance and works with a committee on recommendations for the National Science Foundation.

He is working toward his doctorate from Colorado State College at Greeley. He has earned degrees from Eastern New Mexico University and the University of New Mexico including a master's in education administration.

The Carson educator is a member of numerous state and national principals' groups - both junior high and elementary - and other related organizations.

He serves on the executive board of the Colorado Junior High School Principals Study Group and on the state council on accreditation advisory committee.

He has taken graduate studies at Northern Michigan University, Stanford University, Western State College and the University of Colorado.

Several Carson teachers and administrators work along with Holcomb in state and national programs to determine goals and standards for teaching throughout the country.

Council Denies Bid to Install Crematorium

A request for permission to install a crematorium at Evergreen Cemetery was denied Tuesday by the Colorado Springs City Council.

The request was made by O. R. Mahlum, 1471 Howard St., who wanted to contract with the city for the work. Council members determined that any such construction should be done by private enterprise.

The council members requested City Manager John Biery to formulate plans under which a crematorium should be constructed. Biery will present them to the council at the first meeting in March.

An ordinance was approved mandating black 132 of Evergreen Cemetery as a garden type section and establishing prices for use of grave spaces on a 1961 price schedule.

THEY'RE 'WAY OUT!'—These boys and girls are modeling some of the space suits which will be worn Friday night when Bates School holds its Space Age Festival. The four are (from left) Glenda

CC Professor Brings New Slant to Progressivism

A Colorado College history professor has brought forth new facts about progressivism in this country that may tumble some recently developed theories about the reform movement.

Contrary to the opinions of some historians writing today, says Dr. Louis G. Geiger, professor of history at Colorado College here, small-town prejudice was an important factor in bringing about reform. The true nature of the reform movement frequently is misunderstood, he says.

All too often, writes Dr. Geiger in a recent issue of the Journal of Southern History, the efforts of native Americans to rid cities of corruption has been erroneously labeled fascist and reactionary by later reformers.

He says two aspects of the progressive era do not receive sufficient attention and when they do they seem to be generally misunderstood.

One of these was the positive role played in the reform movement by Anglo-Saxon Protestants, he said, and the other was the alarmist tactics and oversimplification of issues by the reformers.

Disarmament Official May Have Lifetime Job

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

If ever a man would seem to have a lifetime job, that man is William C. Foster, head of the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency.

Foster is a Republican who has spent a large part of his time doing important jobs for Democratic presidents and this week he resumed talks with the Russians in Geneva on world disarmament.

The setting is the 17-nation conference on a nuclear test ban and disarmament, but for the 15 others present it is mostly a courtesy role with a vote to count only when or if the United States and the USSR first reach agreement among themselves.

If chances of success are to be measured in terms of progress over the last 15 years, then Foster's job truly is of lifetime duration.

This is a tragedy of the times because this very repetition leads to boredom and to a sense of futility. This in turn leads nations still not possessing the "bomb" to a belief that agreement never will be reached and that their only safety lies in their own ability to destroy.

Occasionally attempts are made to recapture the urgency which the problem demands.

One such attempt came in the wake of the Cuban crisis and for a time it appeared progress might be made.

Nikita Khrushchev suddenly agreed to two or three inspections on Soviet soil each year to check suspected underground nuclear test blasts.

Wrote Khrushchev to President Kennedy: "We believe that now the road to agreement is straight and clear."

The United States originally had demanded 20 on-site inspections, whittled it to 12 and now said it might settle for eight.

The United States had agreed that unmanned seismic stations to record underground disturbances might in some cases replace human inspection teams. It believed that at least a dozen of these stations should be on Soviet soil.

Khrushchev said three would do.

Then, suddenly the Russians broke off talks which had been progressing in New York and demanded that they be returned to Geneva.

The way obviously was neither so straight nor so clear as Khrushchev had professed to believe.

But Foster sees a ray of light.

He said: "We are both interested in preventing the destruction of the world."

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bette Davis came thru like one of Bobby Kennedy's pharmaceutical firms when her favorite doctor, Vincent Carroll of Southeast Community hospital in Laguna, called for help.

"If the hospital doesn't get $25,000 tonight," he said, "we won't qualify for the big money." Bette took a deep breath and pledged that amount herself. Then added, "If I drop dead, don't you dare take it out of my estate."

Bette threw a birthday party for her 11-year-old son Michael and 20 of his friends, cooked 80 drumsticks on a barbecue.

"Entertaining young men isn't easy," she said. "You never know what will please them. But I know enough to give them something they can eat with their fingers."

He later was able to convey to the reader the most intimate, emotional reactions to fear, resolution and do-or-die." Lay told me, "I first wrote that as a report for Gen. Curtis LeMay. It was the worst mission we ever made. Almost put the United States out of business in August of '43. We lost 60 bombers, each carrying a crew of 10."

Merv Griffin Loses Fight With TV People
By DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK (NEA)—This writer happened to run into Merv Griffin in his NBC office just a few days before the network announced that it was cancelling his daytime program, the Merv Griffin Show. The handwriting was already on the picture tube.

"I'm terribly depressed about the show," Griffin said then. "I know people like it; I can tell by the tremendous amount of mail. And I know the sponsors like it; we're full up and getting renewals. It's just those Nielsen ratings which aren't good. The other ratings are fine."

Griffin says he and his producer, Bob Shanks, have been bucking network interference with the show right along.

"I'll get called into the network brass," he says, "and they tell me to spice up the show. They tell me to appeal to a 13-year-old mentality to get along in the daytime. I don't believe it."

"At one of these conferences, they said to me that I should add some audience participation games. So I said, 'You mean, like stunts—going through a ladies' handbag, things like that?' That's what they wanted. Well, I refused. It's my package and I can refuse."

Even though the show has been killed, Griffin has come out of it smelling like a whole bouquet.

"It's done me a world of good," he said. "I've been offered so many things—movies, plays, other television shows. I'm right now in negotiations with NBC to do a one-hour show next fall in the evening. It's no longer just a possibility. It's a probability. It would be a combination talk-variety show. I might work with Jonathan Winters on it."

There's also—and this doesn't come from Griffin—the outside chance he may be tapped to take over from Johnny Carson on The Tonight Show next fall. There's the feeling around Radio City that this is the next step.

Ike Says He Did Not Bother About Critics

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says he paid not the slightest attention to criticism of the time he spent playing golf or going fishing or daubing with paints.

Appearing here with historian Bruce Catton in an NBC television program recorded at Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., home on the subject of President Lincoln, Eisenhower said: "I think the worst possible president would be one who always just stayed at his desk."

Catton remarked that during the Civil War, Lincoln was criticized for allegedly spending too much time telling funny stories and going to the theater.

Eisenhower agreed with Catton that Lincoln needed relaxation of some sort.

"The first thing that any man learns when he has to carry heavy responsibilities a long time, he has to learn those points and that type of decision that demand his earnest attention and sometimes preparation," Eisenhower commented.

"And the others he has to learn to avoid. He is no executive until he can delegate those to people and stand behind them."

Referring to criticism of his own leisure pursuits, Eisenhower said: "I paid not the slightest attention to it. As a matter of fact, I stopped reading that kind of thing. It didn't bother me for this simple reason: to be in condition to do the things I needed to do—just couldn't sit at the desk all the time."

Eisenhower said Gen. Robert E. Lee, commander of the Confederate Army, "had a terrible decision to make early in the war."

"Mr. Lincoln is supposed to have offered the command of the Union forces to him. Certainly there was some mention made about that," Eisenhower said.

"But, Eisenhower said, Lee 'felt that his loyalty was to his state,' Virginia.

Asked if Lee had the quality of aggressiveness that Lincoln looked for in his generals, Eisenhower replied: "Oh, all the time. As a matter of fact, the history of the war shows that he'd get so excited in a critical point of a battle that his own men would have to hold him back from getting into the thick of it."

CC Almost Ends String But Mines Wins, 56-55

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

GOLDEN — It was a night of striking accomplishment for Colorado Mines' Jimmy Darden here Tuesday — but what happened to Colorado College's Red Eastlack shouldn't happen to even a winning basketball coach.

Darden is currently basking in the glow of his first victorious season in eight years, the campaign and the manner in which the Golden Institute tried to win the Golden Institute trophy. It was Eastlack who took the soaking Tuesday night, the as his winless Tigers authored an inspired comeback in the second half only to have the Orediggers snatch away the victory in the final 50 seconds, 56-55.

With Creighton coming up Thursday and the Air Force Saturday, it would have been a humanitarian gesture if CC had been allowed its first win in 15 tries this winter. Considering the misfortunes that have befallen this club since the early days of hardwood season in eight years, the campaign and the manner in which the Golden Institute tried to win the Golden Institute trophy. It was Eastlack who took the soaking Tuesday night, the as his winless Tigers authored an inspired comeback in the second

Celtics Whack Lakers to Increase Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The fur seems to fly whenever the Boston Celtics and the Los Angeles Lakers get together in the National Basketball Association.

It was that way in the championship playoff last spring when the Celtics and Lakers played the full seven games before Boston won the title.

Right now they are battling for the $2,000 that goes to the team finishing the regular season with the highest winning percentage.

The Celtics, who took the bonus last season, walloped the Lakers 120-93 Tuesday night and reduced the Lakers' percentage lead. Boston, the Eastern Division leader, now has a 44-18 record for 710. Los Angeles, No. 1 in the Western Division, has 46-15 for 754.

A record crowd of 11,028 saw the game at Cobo Hall in Detroit. It was the opener of a double-header. The Detroit Pistons defeated the San Francisco Warriors 120-115 in the nightcap.

The St. Louis Hawks ended Syracuse's five-game winning streak 128-100 in the other NBA game scheduled Tuesday.

Bucyk Leads Boston Over Rangers, 6-3

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Milt Schmidt says he hopes the Boston Bruins can overhaul New York in the National Hockey League but he's worried about an upcoming road trip.

"Up to now we've had a fine record," Schmidt said following Boston's crisp 6-3 victory over the Rangers Tuesday night, "but we have six straight games on the road facing us. And that's a lot tougher than our schedule in the past—an away game or two and then home again."

The last-place Bruins pulled to within four points of fifth-place New York as Johnny Bucyk and Jerry Toppazzini each scored twice before 7,235 fans at Boston Garden. The rest of the league was idle.

Bucyk's effort—he also had one assist—put him three points ahead of Detroit's Gordie Howe in their scramble for the NHL scoring title.

Big John now has 24 goals and 35 assists for 59 points. Howe has scored 27 goals and added 29 assists for 56 points.

Jim Davis CU's Key To Victory

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Davis of Colorado played in the shadow of Ron Bonham at Muncie, Ind., and his press clip-bing won't match Ken Charlton's points until late in the period when they sailed off to a nine-point advantage on the suddenly effective work of forward Steve Harvey.

When the lead grew to 10 points at 33-23 three minutes after the second half got underway, the average. Both are outstanding shooters and capable in other phases of the game.

Davis is no better than 13th in Big Eight scoring with his 12.9 average for eight games. But the smooth 6-foot-8 junior has been shooting around 50 per cent all season. He gets many key goals. In rebounding, Davis is the league's best. He has averaged 11.1 rebounds in conference play and his season total of 212 grabs plays a major role in Colorado's 14-4 won-lost record.

Charlton, who recently hurt his right knee, scored only 14 against Oklahoma Monday.

Willie Murrell of Kansas State, the runner-up with a 19.1 average, appears to have the best shot at the scoring title should Charlton run into more knee troubles. Charlton's left knee required surgery after last season.

Larry Hawk of Oklahoma State is a close third with 18.5 but plays for a low-scoring ball-control team while Murrell's club likes the fast break. The No. 4 man is George Unseld, Kansas sophomore, with 17.8.

Others in the top 10 in scoring: Ray Bob Carey, Missouri; 16.4; Nolan Ellison, Kansas; 15.9; Marvin Straw, Iowa State; 15.7; Eddie Evans, Oklahoma; 15.6; and Gary Kleven and Vince Brewer, both of Iowa State, tied at 14.0.

Giese, Eisenhour Win at Bowl-Mor

Bill Giese and Dee Eisenhour teamed forces to win Bowl Mor Sunday at the University of Missouri. Giese shot 127 pins and Eisenhour rolled 125 pins for a 252 total.

Second honors went to Chuck Wells and Bert Zega for a combined 1269 handicapped series. Mike Re' and Buck Varnell took third with a combined 1264 total.

High scratch series went to Giese and Bob Knight, both 665. Knight shot high game, 290, in his 665 series.

DU Dumps Sioux Six For First

DENVER (UPI)—The battling Denver University Pioneers jumped back into first place in the Western Collegiate Hockey Association league standings Tuesday night with a 3-1 victory over North Dakota.

The Pioneers, previous league leaders who took the spot away from Denver earlier in the season, plunged into fourth place with the defeat.

It was Rudy Unis, Denver's stingy goal tender, and a team desire for revenge against the visitors that helped gain Denver the victory Tuesday. Unis put up a spectacular show, stopping 24 shots and allowing only one goal late in the game.

Willmot Stirret broke up Unis' shutout effort with 12:14 gone in the final period.

Denver jumped out ahead of the Nodaks with 4:21 gone in the second period as Pioneer Emory Sampson blasted a 0-0 tie-breaker past Nodak goalie Joe Lech. Greg Lacomy and Marshall Johnston picked up two quick goals for DU in the third period. Lech made 25 saves.

Denver's record stands at 10-5, Michigan Tech is second with 8-4, Minnesota is third at 7-4-3, and North Dakota fell to a 6-4-1 record.

North Dakota meets Colorado College tonight in Colorado Springs, and returns to Denver Friday for another face-off against the league leaders.

Wichita Coach 'Optimistic' Over Chance Against Cincy

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

WICHITA (AP)—Ralph Miller, Wichita basketball coach, says he was "conservatively optimistic" about ending Cincinnati's 37-game home game, hoping to see a repeat of Wichita's 52-51 victory over the Bearcats early last season. That one ended a 27-game Cincy winning streak. Nationally top-ranked Cincy beat Wichita 63-36 in their first meeting this season.

Ed Jucker, Cincinnati coach, knows the Wheatshockers will be pointing for his two-time NCAA champion. He put it this way: "They have been burning and sweating and waiting for us. May be the reason they have lost some recent games is they were over-looking everyone else to get to us."

Wichita has a 13-4 record against one of the toughest schools in the nation.

CC, Nodaks to Clash Tonight In 'Must' Game for Playoffs

By LOY HOLMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Editor

Heading down the stretch run of the Western Collegiate Hockey Association race, it appears Colorado College's long-shot Tigers will need help from the pack to give backers a pay-off in this year's sweepstakes.

Just when the Bengals appeared to have stumbled around the final turn, they broke into the open again last weekend but it still seems a long way to the wire with four other WCHA horses hugging the rail.

So now if Coach Tony Frasca's thoroughbreds are to compete their reversal of form from last year's tail-end finish it will take a mad dash the rest of the way. And the final push can't start any later than tonight at the Broadmoor World Arena.

CC can take a giant stride toward an in-the-money placing in the standings if they can pull a second straight upset. This time it's North Dakota's talented Sioux that invade the Tigers' lair with the first puck to be dropped at 8:15 p.m.

Tuesday night in Denver, the Pioneers knocked the Nodaks out of first place in the WCHA with a 3-1 victory, dropping the visitors all the way to fourth with a 6-4-1 record. The win also lifted DU to the top spot with a 10-5 mark, just ahead of Michigan Tech and Minnesota University.

So tonight it's a sure bet the Sioux of Coach Barry Thorndy-craft will be using the whip in order to salvage a victory out of their most rugged road trip of the season. Last weekend North Dakota started its traveling and wound up with a double defeat at the hands of Michigan Tech, defending league and national champion and currently the hottest club in the circuit.

Thus, even the CC could manage only a split against Denver in a home-and-home series, it offered yet another opportunity for Frasca's battered Bengals to close out in the first division and gain a berth in the four-team WCHA playoffs.

The Tigers, of course, could earn their own ticket to the finals should the near impossible happen and they win all four remaining games. However, their best chance seems to be a sweep of the home games against the Nodaks and then at least a split in the final two at Michigan Tech, March 1 and 2.

Even then, providing Denver and CC combine to whip the Nodaks four times this week, the Tigers would need help from Minnesota with a split at Tech. That would leave it up to CC to win its way into the playoffs by taking at least one of its final games at Tech in order to beat out Dakota in percentage.

Granted, the chance is slim. But stranger things have happened this season in probably the most evenly balanced year for the WCHA in memory.

A week ago it appeared either Minnesota or Michigan Tech would be the team to beat for the CC and the fourth spot. But Tech took care of that with its 3-0 and 6-5 thriller before a near sellout crowd of 4,500 was the first time in 18 games since the Tigers impossible to catch since they have defeated their hated rivals, play near patsy Michigan State it was only the second victory four of their remaining six league games.

But just a sample of the surprises that come almost weekly in this topsy-turvy league occurred just last Saturday at the World Arena when CC ended a three-year drought against Denver. The CC and the fourth spot. But Tech took care of that with its 3-0 and 6-5 thriller before a near sellout crowd of 4,500 was the first time in 18 games since the Tigers impossible to catch since they have defeated their hated rivals, play near patsy Michigan State it was only the second victory their last chance in the playoff race for after tonight there could be no tomorrow.

The games tonight and again against North Dakota on Saturday, following the date with Denver on Friday, will be the final home appearance for 10 CC seniors. Among them will be the entire defensive corps of Bill Dixon, Paul Kilbreath, Dan McGill and Jim Frolick. Also to be lost after this season are goalie Pete Doyle, and forwards Don (The Stuffer) Stouffer, Art Berglund, Ken Cairns and Jacques Rivard.

Lost earlier was senior Alex Yankovich, who broke his right leg rushing into the net at Minnesota the first weekend of this month. And defenseman Dave Lewis graduated at the end of the first semester.

They'll be bucking a team that was a near unanimous pick of the league's coaches before the season to be among the leaders. Frasca, himself, felt the Nodaks would win the league title.

The main reason for this was a crop of juniors, considered among the finest ever to come out of the Junior A leagues of Canada. On this list are Al McLean and George Chigol, two of the top scorers in the loop, and they are supplemented by steady seniors Dave Merrifield and Don Storsteen.

One of the main questionmarks for the Nodaks coming into this invasion of Colorado is the physical condition of sophomore goalie, Joe Lech. Last weekend he was hit in the face by a hard shot and had to be relieved by senior Dudley Gene Otto. At the time of the accident Lech was among the league's goal guards, and Otto gave up four tallies in the 5-1 loss.

Stouffer, who stuffed the winning goal past Denver last Saturday in the Tigers' spine-tingling 6-5 victory, climbed into co-leadership of the CC scoring with his 16th goal of the year. His three points in the Denver series put him even with Berglund, who has paced the team all year.

Despite a great performance in turning back no less than 41 DU shots on Saturday, Doyle's record in goal still increased one-tenth on his 5.0 goals-allowed-average. It's expected that Art Warwick, CC's Phi Beta Kappa junior from Port Arthur, Ont., will tend the nets tonight in Frasca's alternating goalie system.

Season scoring for the Tigers 19 games follows:

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arnold Palmer has his third straight Phoenix Open golf championship today after a final round that was 48 hours later by 7 minutes too long for little Gary Player.

While Player sat glumly near the scoreboard after missing a short putt that meant a playoff, Palmer rammed home a 4-footer for a 70 and a 72-hole total of 273 Tuesday that won the $35,000 tournament by a stroke.

Rain had washed out two previous attempts to play the final round of the championship at the par 72 Arizona Country Club course, but Player, the little man from South Africa, was more concerned about a 7-minute delay.

Needing to sink a 4-footer for a birdie that, as it turned out, would have tied Palmer, Player stewed for 7 minutes while his playing partner, Don January, waited to see if a putt that had hung on the lip of the cup on the 18th hole would drop in.

It didn't and an obviously nervous Player finally got a chance at his 4-footer, and missed it, settling for a par 4 and a runner-up total of 274, a stroke behind Palmer and a stroke ahead of the third-place finisher, Jack Nicklaus.

"January didn't have a right to wait 7 minutes for that putt to drop," Player said, openly disturbed. "It was very nerve-racking, especially knowing I needed just a bird to tie Arnie."

Palmer's victory, his second in the winter tour, was worth $5,300 while Player pocketed $3,400 and Nicklaus $2,200. Gardner Dickson was fourth with 276, and Tony Lama and Jay Hebert shared fifth with 277.

Cotton Nash, rated by Coach Adolph Rupp as one of the best basketball players in Kentucky history, broke 18 school records as a sophomore last season.

Top scorers for Carson were Larry Comley, 33; Earl Nau, 25; and John Sheppard, 15.

On Saturday in the tourney opener, Carson clobbered the Academy base personnel team, 125 to 86. Sheppard led Carson with 33 followed by Jim May with 28 and Nau, 25, as the top point men.

Lewry Air Force Base of Denver was defending the tourney title.

The Mountaineers will meet the Academy base personnel tonight on the personnel team's home hardwood at the Community Center.

Auto Insurance Rate Reported Increasing

DENVER (AP)—One major insurance company has raised its automobile coverage rates for bodily injury and property damage in Colorado and others are expected to follow suit.

The Colorado Insurance Commission said here it had approved an application by State Farm Mutual Insurance Co. to raise its rate for that particular coverage in Denver by 24.4 per cent, in Pueblo and Colorado Springs by 3.1 per cent and in the other areas of the state by 6.2 per cent.

Commission officials said the rate hike was approved on the company's claim that losses paid under bodily injury and property damage provisions exceeded premium revenue.

As an example, the commission said a driver over 25 years of age with an average passenger car in Denver will have his rate increased from $10.20 to $12.30 for bodily injury and property damage.

The rate increase was effective Feb. 5.

ORDERS SATELLITES

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) is ordering seven more Tiros weather satellites at an estimated cost of nearly $12 million.

NASA said Tuesday the new satellites would be made by Radio Corp. of America, which also produced the eight Tiros satellites previously purchased. Six of them have been put in orbit.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Keep Looking Lady!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 62-year-old widow on the look-out for a second mate. How does a gal go about making herself attractive to a man six years her junior? Fancy clothes and new hair-dos don't work like they used to. He lives alone and I know he likes home cooking so I invite him to dinner at my home several times a week. He never takes me out but says he enjoys my company. He likes his freedom and kidding says he'll never marry. I am just an average working girl. How can I convince him he can't live without me? —HUNGRY FOR LOVE

DEAR HUNGRY: What makes you think he's kidding when he says he'll never marry? If you really want to find a second mate, don't waste your time and groceries on the likes of him.

DEAR ABBY: Our son married a terrible girl who has tried for years to turn him against his people. We love our son, Abby, and for that reason have tolerated it as long as we could. She has never made any big trouble between our son and us, but the cooling process is gradual and the gap is growing wider. We know our son loves us but is too weak to stand up to this woman. He has told us this in so many words. She is bringing up her children to hate us and to favor her parents. How can we change the situation? —LEFT OUT

DEAR LEFT: The only person who can "change" the situation is your son. Since he, by his own admission, is "too weak to stand up to this woman," you will have to put up with it. Don't blame the girl entirely. Your son's spinelessness accounts for half the problem.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for two months and I am exhausted! My husband is the most wonderful man in the world but he has one fault. He never sleeps. I require at least eight hours sleep, but he gets along fine on five! We get to sleep about 11 o'clock at night, and at four in the morning he is up like a rooster. He showers, shaves, dresses and then he wakes me up to fix breakfast in the middle of the night. Abby, he doesn't have to be at work until

Opening lead: King of ♠ East - West vulnerable. West deals.

A reluctance to use up the only high card in his hand proved fatal to East's cause in today's hand.

West managed to scrape together a one spade opening, and North had a very sound take-out double. East's raise to two spades was a mildly pre-emptive effort. We approve heartily of South's three heart bid, for although a superficial analyst might comment on the fact that he has only two kings, what is more to the point is that he might not have had that much, and unless he shows some signs of life partner will be placed under considerable pressure on his next bid. North raise to four hearts was routine.

West opened the king of spades on which East contributed the six. In response to his partner's signal, West continued with another spade forcing the dummy to ruff. South cashed the ace and king of hearts and, though the suit did not break, he had no trouble establishing dummy's clubs for enough diamond discards to restrict his loss to one spade, one heart and one club.

When East permitted the king of spades to hold at trick one, the defense was damaged beyond all repair. It would have done West no good to shift to a diamond at this point for, even though East's jack of diamonds forces out declarer's king, West can never lead the suit again safely. South will have plenty of time to establish the clubs, while North still retains the ace of diamonds.

Observe what happens, however, if East overtakes West's king of spades in order to make a play for his partner. His shift of course, is to the deuce of diamonds. If South puts in the eight, West's nine will force the ace and now, when he gets in with the ace of clubs, he is in position to continue the attack against declarer's king of diamonds. South can draw two rounds of trumps but, when he tries to run the clubs, East ruffs in on the third round in time to cash the setting trick in diamonds.

Cascade News

By CAROLYN McADAMS — MU 7-9065

Dr. Jack Carson, president of the Cascade Property Owners Association, presided at its stated meeting February 5, in the Firehouse auditorium. Some thirty persons were present. A proposed amendment to the constitution and by-laws regarding assets of the association was approved. It was voted to move the community map that has been placed in the Cascade Post Office vestibule, to a more suitable place, accessible at all times. It will be placed at the foot of Topeka Avenue. The map will be framed under plexi glass and mounted on a post under the street light at the corner. Mrs. Fern Johnson and Mrs. Hazel Lisiecki were appointed to look after its installation, in the near future. President Carson gave a report of his recent survey of the Security Recreational District and presented general information that would apply to the Ute Pass recreational plans previously discussed for the Cascade community. The need for athletic activities for the youth in the area is badly needed. Mr. Elmer Tesker gave a showing of colored slides of Colorado ghost towns and floral arrangements. The next meeting of the Association will be the first Tuesday in May.

Nick Sanborn Jr., fire chief of the Volunteer Fire Department, has appointed the following men to be in charge of the annual St. Patrick Day dinner dance. Dick Wilson is the chairman, producer and director of the stage show. Rehearsals are being held every Wednesday and Friday evening. Frank Sanborn is publicity and poster chairman. Nick Sanborn Jr. has the ticket distribution. Harry Pole will plan menu and serving of the dinner, which will be a supper buffet. Ronald Weisman will arrange the "Nite-Caps" dance program to begin at 8 p.m. Clifford Morrison will be secretary-treasurer for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Mayfield announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Patty Mayfield, to Douglas Morford, of Camp Roberts, California, on Feb. 2, 3:30 p.m., at the Church in the Wildwood. A reception was held at the home following the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Conrad Pyle.

The Little Ute Nursery School met Wednesday morning in the Community Building, Green Mountain Falls, with Mrs. Jean Sanborn, director. Eight pupils were present, illness causing the absence of four. A dog story book was read and studied to acquaint the youngsters with different kinds of dogs, with each telling about his or her own pets, and coloring pictures. After apple juice and cookie refreshments the children played ball and circle games in the city park.

A stated meeting of Snowflake Chapter No. 153, was held Feb. 8, in the Masonic Building, Woodland Park. Mrs. Helen Randall, worthy matron, and Tom Bonfield, worthy patron, presided during the ceremony of initiation with Mrs. Lou Annie Neff filling the station of conductress. Recognition of the Esther Star Point was given, with Dee Crumbaker in charge, assisted by Mrs. Frances Smith, marshal. At the March 8 meeting the Martha Star Point will be honored, with invitations extended neighbor officers.

Robbie Blosser and Billy Rasper, conducted the Flag ceremony at the Cub Scout meeting of Den 1, Pack 33, last Tuesday. Mrs. Joyce Woolston, den mother gave a lesson in, "Good Manners for Little Gentlemen." They learned the action song, "Little Peter Rabbit." Bruce Howard is rehearsing the "Star Spangled Banner," which he will sing at the Blue and Gold Dinner, scheduled for Feb. 23. Five cub scouts were selected to practice building a live pyramid, with other members to take turns at another meeting. All members will wear their official blue uniforms to attend church in a body for Scout Sunday. Mrs. Maurice Hey, assistant den mother was present to assist with the meeting.

Lee Van Arsdale conducted the Flag ceremony at the meeting of Den 2, Cub Scouts Pack 33, held last Thursday in the Cascade Firehouse hall. Mrs. Maxine Van Arsdale, den mother, told about the Blue and Gold Story. The blue is for the sky above, standing for truth, loyalty and spirituality. The gold stands for sunlight, good cheer and happiness. The Cub Scouts will attend the Church in the Wildwood, Scout Sunday, wearing their blue uniforms. At the close of their meeting they played the game Scare, closing with the living circle ceremony. Mrs. Dora Madril, assistant den mother, has resigned, as she is moving to Gilman, Colo.

Dr. Jack Carson attended the recent mid-winter dental convention in Denver, held at the Hilton Hotel.

A welcome back to Ute Pass has been extended Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugdale Jr. when they returned to Swiss Miss Chalet, Moritz, residence of Mr. and Mrs. Dugdale Sr., last Tuesday.

Richard has completed his first semester towards his master's degree in psychology, at Bowling Green State University. O. He will report for officers training in San Antonio, Tex., around May 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Maxwell Warner left February 7, for Phoenix, Ariz., where they will spend the rest of the winter.

Mrs. Farley Reasonover was hostess Wednesday evening at her home for a dinner meeting of the past presidents of the Woodland Park Lions and Lioness Clubs. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Garde, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quinn, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lynch and Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Brown. Out of town past presidents were Mr. and Mrs. Dar Elder, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Busch and Farley Reasonover.

The Cascade Supper Club met Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pole with Lt. Col. and Mrs. H.W. Berendt co-hosts, honoring the Colonel and Harry Pole's February birthdays.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugdale Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dugdale Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanborn Jr., Mrs. Carol Hunt, Mrs. Hazel Lisiecki and Sam Mitchell.

Mrs. Doris Rerick has been appointed to serve on the committee for the summer church, sponsored by the Church in the Wildwood.

Huge New Gymnasium Is Built by School
NEW CASTLE, Ky. (AP)—Henry County school officials believe in planning ahead so they built a 5,600-seat gymnasium for the county high school. That's big enough to hold half the county population and provide more than nine seats per pupil.

Some area residents are unhappy about the mammoth gym but, said county school Supt. John W. Long, "I'd say 95 per cent of the people are tickled to death."

Long said the school board decided on the large size in order to be prepared for future enrollment growth and added, "This building will serve the county for the next 75 years."

$12,000 Suddenly Comes Unexpectedly

SCHUYLERVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Milton Larmon suddenly has acquired $12,000 from unexpected sources.

A man recently handed the 78-year-old house-mover a check for $8,465 and explained it was payment and interest on a $5,000 house-moving job Larmon did 11 years ago.

Next, Larmon received a $3,246 check from Social Security, with an explanation that he had been underpaid and the money represented an adjustment.

"It was just like old Santa Claus," Larmon said.

Oil Reserves Lowered in Mountain Area

DENVER (AP)—Each Rocky Mountain-High Plains state produced more oil last year than was found in the state, Petroleum Information reported here.

This would mean that the area began the new year with lower oil reserves than at the start of 1962.

The industry publication said new oil found in the region last year, including natural gas liquids amounted to 164,261,000 barrels, while production during the year amounted to just over 290 million barrels.

This compares with nearly 301 million barrels found in 1961 against a production total that year of 311.3 million.

For further comparison, new oil credited to the region in 1960 totaled 294 million barrels and the 1959 figure was more than 473 barrels.

In 1962, Wyoming led the region in the amount of new oil found with nearly 68.5 million barrels. Wyoming production was 134.4 million barrels.

Colorado reserves were increased by nearly 142 million barrels but the state produced 42.1 million barrels of oil.

In Montana, discoveries, extensions and revisions produced a total of almost 16.5 million barrels of new liquid hydrocarbon reserves. Production totaled 29.7 million.

Utah gained 30.7 million barrels of new liquids, produced 29.8, not counting natural gas liquids.

New Mexico, on the basis of all liquid reserves, was the only state in the region to gain, but it did not show an increase on crude oil alone.

Nebraska's gain was a little more than 21 million barrels. North Dakota was credited with 10.4 million barrels of new oil found and it produced more than 22.7 million barrels.

Petroleum Information said a survey of operator plans for the current year revealed that more emphasis will be laid on exploration than upon development drilling. Net prediction for the United States is nearly 45,500 new wells in 1963, just short of the 46,200 drilled last year.

Meanwhile, the advent of better weather in the area boosted activity last week. Petroleum Information counted 138 rotaries at work, four more than the previous week but down from the 179 operating at this time a year ago.

New locations also were up last week with a total of 66, of which 24 were wildcats. Wyoming led with 25 new projects, Colorado had 11, Arizona 1, Montana 5, Nebraska 8, North Dakota 3, northern New Mexico 10 and Utah 3.

Divide News

Several from Divide attended the Area Redevelopment meeting in Cripple Creek Wednesday.

The Dependable Construction Company has finished laying the blocks on the firehouse at Divide.

Martin Hammer and Glen Johnson were in Woodland Park Monday on business.

The knitting class met at Mrs. Mazie Ricker's home on Jan. 30 with 11 women present. They are learning fast. Some are making sweaters for themselves, making rugs one lady is making a sweater for a dog, and one is making stocking caps.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hammer went for a drive Sunday afternoon. They drove through Sherwood Forest, the old Vern Ellis place.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Parmley returned home Thursday evening from their vacation. They had a nice trip, visited their daughter and her husband and other relatives in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hammer had coffee and cake Sunday evening with Dave and Lenny Davidson. Linda is still in Greeley with her grandmother.

Word has been received from Mrs. Hagerty that she and her son will be staying with her daughter at Carlsbad for awhile. She leaves her friends at Divide.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

I am very grateful for the idea of using cornstarch to clean spots from my rug. My dog sometimes takes his bones to the rug. Now. This makes spots which can be removed with cornstarch. Thanks for the tip. —C. E. N.

Dear Folks:

We have found out recently that you can apply cornstarch or baking soda (and for goodness sake pour it on dry) on some spots on your carpets, rub it in gently with your hands, and leave it overnight. The next morning take it up with your vacuum cleaner.

This is especially good if the spot contains oils or butter fats (such as cream).

This is not a letter of laughter but thought that you should share in the "roar" we had, when we read the letter that came in last week. One woman wrote that she was mad at me and would never read the column again.

She says that she went out and bought "16 boxes" of cornstarch (after finding out that it took a spot off her rug that had been there a long time) and "literally" held each box waist-high and sprinkled it all over her entire five-room apartment! Now she is mad at me because she had to dust all of her furniture!

Don't hold cornstarch or baking soda waist-high when you dab some of this powdered stuff on your rug. "Naturally" you will have to dust!

Just apply a "little bit" of it to the spots and let sit overnight. That's all there is to it.

And I do hope you don't mind my sticking my head in your door this day? While that pot of coffee is perking this morning, think of me as I will be wishing I could be right there with you. —Love always, Heloise

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

Once I bought a huge turkey. It was too large to hold over a flame and since the fine hairs off and the bladed thing was covered with them. Well, after an hour of picking, singing, and two scorched fingers, I finally got disgusted. I took an old safety razor and cleaned it extra good and put a new blade in it and just shaved that old bird! —Mrs. E. H. H.

Dear Heloise:

I keep meat loaf from cracking while baking by dipping my hand in cold water and rubbing the top of the meat until it is smooth "before" putting it in the oven. —Ruby Perisho

Dear Heloise:

We solved the problem of getting our children to eat (we have five boys) at mealtime. When they refused to clean up their plates they were not allowed after-school snacks the next day. This was not just a threat! It was actually carried out!

It did not take long to make our children realize that they had to "toe-the-mark" at mealtime. —A. Ceccawese

Dear Heloise:

I recently moved into a new home with a built-in kitchen dinette nook.

I found that I could keep the back part of the dinette set clean (where the seat cushion meets the back cushion) by using a rubber or plastic cake spatula. Just run the spatula along and into the crevices and all crumbs come out easily. The crumbs, I then pick up with a damp dish cloth. —Dorothy Copec

Reds Say Troops Not Needed as Guards

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union claims it no longer needs military forces to keep its citizens in order.

The Defense Ministry newspaper Krasnaya Zvezda (Red Star) said Tuesday Soviet armed forces are maintained solely as protection against "the imperialist powers."

The article was printed in connection with the 45th anniversary of the armed forces, which will be observed Feb. 23.

The article made no mention of reports that military units were needed to suppress food price riots in several areas of the Soviet Union last year. Nor did the paper mention that special military units along Soviet borders are there mainly to stop potential outgoing traffic.

Astronauts Meet At Home of Glenn

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The nation's 18 astronauts and their wives got together for the first time at an informal buffet supper last weekend, the John H. Glenn said Tuesday.

The supper was held at the Glenn home.

"No one was missing," said Glenn, the first American to make an orbital flight. "It was sort of a first for all of us—the first time all 18 fellows and our wives have been together for such a very big formal and enjoyable evening."

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association declined comment today on the issue of to hike or not to hike.

The AMA, which has taken strong stands in opposition to some Kennedy administration programs, reacted cautiously when asked for any words of caution on the virtues or dangers of the President's latest call to get the nation moving again.

"We prefer to sit this one out," an AMA spokesman said.

Moscow Bureau Of NBC Ordered Closed by Soviets

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government ordered the National Broadcasting Co. today to close its Moscow bureau because of a program about Premier Khrushchev.

The Foreign Ministry's press department called in NBC correspondent Russell Jones and told him to leave the country.

Press director Leonid Zamyatin told Jones that an NBC program Feb. 3 titled "The Rise of Mr. Khrushchev" and another late in January were anti-Soviet.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said: "This step was taken in connection with a recent series of malicious anti-Soviet broadcasts by the National Broadcasting Co. which grossly distorted Soviet reality and had the obvious purpose of arousing in the U.S. population hostility toward the Soviet Union." NBC has been represented in Moscow by Frank Bourgholtzer since June 1961. Jones has been in Moscow while Bourgholtzer has been traveling in Spain.

In New York, William McArdrew, executive vice president of NBC News, said the company will have no comment until it studies the Soviet charges further. Bourgholtzer will be allowed to return to Moscow to close the NBC bureau.

Jones said Zamyatin made clear that the closure of the bureau was not aimed at either himself or Bourgholtzer.

It was the second time in recent years that a U.S. broadcasting company's Moscow bureau has been closed because of a program presented in the United States.

The Columbia Broadcasting System bureau was closed in October 1958 after a CBS televised play, "The Plot to Kill Stalin," showed Premier Khrushchev preventing an aide from giving medicine to Stalin as he lay dying.

CBS was allowed to reopen its bureau in November 1959.

More Work Deaths Are Noted in Agriculture

DENVER (AP)—The Colorado State Health Department reported today there were more work deaths in agriculture — 96 — than in any other occupation in the state in the 5-year period ending in 1961.

The mining and oil industry had 78 fatalities in the same period and the construction industry 72 deaths.

The report said agriculture was the only occupation responsible for deaths of children under 15, with nine such fatalities.

Employment by federal, state and local governments in the Los Angeles area increased from 184,900 in 1951 to 307,800 in 1961, according to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Airline Files Suit To Stop Union Vote

DENVER (AP)—A United Airline official said the company filed suit in U.S. District Court in Washington today seeking to prevent a union election among 12,700 employees.

United is trying to keep the National Mediation Board from holding a representation election under the Railway Labor Act until a hearing is held regarding craft and class designations, and United is allowed to become a party to the case.

The airline said the employees affected are in such differing classifications as electronic computer operators, ticket agents and cleaning women.
